

Jeremy Williams (he/they) is Canadian Certified Addiction Counsellor and Registered Therapeutic Counsellor from Vancouver, BC. They currently serve as co-chair for the CACCF Communities of Practice Committee, and as chair of the newly formed Membership Committee.

Currently, Jeremy heads the Phoenix Society's Daytox program at the Rising Sun CRF facility in Surrey, BC in the capacity of Addiction Counsellor and group facilitator.

Jeremy is also the former Vice President of the board of directors for the Association of Cooperative Counselling Therapists of Canada and was instrumental in creating the first Equity Committee, while also serving as the Ethics Committee Liaison.

Advocacy and human rights are a closely held passion for Jeremy, and as a BCGEU union steward, member at large, local chair, and an elected member of the provincial Human Rights and Equity Committee, they balance their mental health and addiction work with advocacy for worker's and human rights.

A career built around working with individuals from all walks of life who struggle with addiction, mental health, homelessness, racism, discrimination, housing insecurity, HIV, and poverty has been a lifelong joy for Jeremy.

In their spare time, Jeremy is the Managing Director of Mountainside Counselling and Family Wellness, and enjoys cooking, gaming, baking, and is a budding plant daddy to over forty houseplants.